F. R. MILNES

The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management. In fact, many times they do not.

MADE ME SMILE

I am glad that I can start the New Year with a smile.

My risibilities were tickled yesterday when I opened a bulky envelope containing publicity regarding the Jackson Day dinner of the Democrats at the Hotel Leanington in Oakland next Wednesday evening.

JUST CANNOT RESIST

The good lady, who as chairman of the publicity committee gave me the opportunity of filling up several columns of space and thus advancing the cause of the New Deal, closed her communication by saying: "It is needless to say how much I would appreciate your use of as much of this material as suits your convenience."

Although I am very liberal, not to say elastic in my political beliefs, no one has before ever attempted to tag me with the Democratic label, and why she should pick on me I am at a loss to understand. However, it is difficult for me to refuse a feminine appeal, and I am therefore going to say a few words regarding the event.

THE REAL OBJECT

In looking over the literature with which I was favored I found a few interesting facts, chief among which I discovered that the dinner is a money-raising affair and a builder of political fences for the present year and the election which occurs in it. Such dinners are to be held all over the country, starting with the swanky $50 a plate one in Washington and ending with a $2 a plate affair in many other places. The Oakland dinner is peculiar in that there are to be two classes of patrons, $2 and $10 ones.

"Half of the money derived from ticket sales, $1 out of each $2 and mission goes to Washington together with the name of the donor. The more generous may sit at the speakers' table for which privilege the price is $10, $9 of which will

W. J. Richards
To Head Local
Red Cross Unit

Owing to the absence of the chairman, W. J. Richards, Jr., the vice chairman, Mrs. Mattie Chandler presided at the first meeting of the new year of Richmond Chapter, American Red Cross, held last evening.

W. J. Richards, Jr., was re-elected to the office of chairman and Mrs. Mattie Chandler as vice chairman. A. G. Papadakis was elected as treasurer and J. T. McCormac as recording secretary.

The new members elected to the board of directors for 1936 are: E. M. Summers, Mrs. H. F. Schwartz, Dr. L. H. Fraser, T. M. Carlson, C. S. Renwick, Jr., Mrs. C. C. Marley, Earl Washburn and Mrs. Nora Sawallisch.

Over forty families were the recipients of baskets of good cheer, clothing and many other things through the efforts of the chapter's workers.

Under the direction of Mrs. Claire Schmidt, the chapter is putting on an entertainment at Mare Island hospital, Sunday, January 12th. During the past year the chapter has sponsored six or more of these events for the benefit of the shut-ins at the hospital. All the talent furnished has been excellent and it is the hope of the chapter to be able to make a monthly event of this work.

The board of directors of the chapter extended thanks to the public for its generous support of the chapter during the past year enabling them to carry on the work to a successful conclusion.

The citizens of Richmond are to be commended for having such an organization within their city limits.

Police Search
For Missing El
Cerrito Matron

Police of the bay area were asked last evening to aid in the search for Mrs. Mina Weisman, 39, of 854 San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito.

Mrs. Weisman was reported missing by relatives late last evening. She was last seen when she left home yesterday morning at nine o'clock.

The woman is five feet, seven inches tall; weighs 135 pounds; has grey hair and green eyes; weighs 135 pounds and was wearing a light tan hat and coat and brown shoes.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES WASHBAUGH, of Portland, Ore., former local residents, visited Mr. and Mrs. Leland Schmitz and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Washbaugh on Tuesday.

THE WEATHER

ITALY PLANNING AERIAL WAR

Leader

PREPARING FOR the opening of Congress today, here is Congressman William B. Bankhead of Alabama, House majority leader, shown at his desk in Washington. New zeals was felt in Washington as lawmakers arrived.

HASTE NEED POINTED OUT BY GENERALS

ROME, Jan. 2.—UP—Smarting under foreign criticism of its bombardment of the Red Cross in Ethiopia, the Italian military command tonight was reported preparing to wage aerial warfare without quarter on the Ethiopians as reprisal for alleged atrocities against Italian prisoners.

The press demanded the government use every method of warfare in revenge against the decapitation of sub-Lieutenant Tito Mannili, whose plane was shot down near Daggah Bur.

AIR ATTACKS SEEN

Foreign military observers believe the apparently inspired press comments were a prelude to the opening of an intensive Italian air offensive against strategic Ethiopian points in an effort to demoralize the enemy and end the war quickly.

It is believed Italian planes will take several years at the present rate of progress to conquer the country. A series of smashing air raids, it is believed, might throw Ethiopians into disorder and halt—at least temporarily—the rapid organization of the Ethiopian counter-attack on northern and southern fronts.

Both Marshal Pietro Badoglio in the north and General Rodolfo Graziani in the south are reported

SOLON WILL OPEN FIGHT ON ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—UP—Representative Robert F. Rich, Republican, Pennsylvania, threatened today to object to the program calling for President Roosevelt to deliver his message to Congress tomorrow night.

Should Rich carry out his threat, it would force the Democratic majority to bring in a special rule permitting a recess until 9 P. M. when the President intends to speak.

Rich indicated that he considered the President's plan to speak in the evening a "political move" and that he would dissent to any proposal for a recess of the House during the afternoon.

BONUS PASSAGE SEEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—UP—The last big obstacle to early enactment of a compromise soldier bonus bill was removed tonight when the Patman inflationist forces in the House dropped their fight to pay the debt to the veterans in "greenbacks."

Tom Touhy Gang Leader Is Captured

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—UP—Tommy Touhy, leader of the "Terrific" Touhy mob, was surprised in his apartment by Federal and local officers today and taken without a struggle.

Shaking with palmy, the gang leader was seized in bed. A pistol lay on a bureau nearby, just out of reach of his hand.

WANTED FOR ROBBERY

The officers said he was wanted for participating in a railway station holdup in 1932 at Minneapolis and for questioning in a number of postal robberies.

With him in his third floor apartment were his wife, Jessie, his two daughters and his brother-in-law, Eddie Ryan, son of Paddy (The Dear) Ryan, famed south side saloon keeper who was killed in a gun fray several years ago.

CANSTAY ILL

Touhy, who once bragged that he would never be taken alive and who used to carry a vial of nitro-glycerine with which to commit suicide should capture seem inevitable, was so ill with palmy that he could move only with assistance.

Federal and postal authorities, augmented by local and State police surrounded the apartment in which Touhy had been reported living under the name of Edward Dolan.

SANITY TEST IS FACED BY HOUSEWIFE

ANTIOCH, Jan. 2.—UP—Mrs. Grace Henderson, 43-year-old housewife, was in the county jail tonight after she threw downtown pedestrians in a panic by brandishing a double-barreled shotgun, threatening to shoot four of them, and then barricading herself in her home, prepared for a siege with a posse of police.

She was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and resisting arrest.

BARRICADED AT HOME

Police first learned of Mrs. Henderson's activities when excited persons rushed to headquarters and informed them she had threatened to kill them "for no reason."

Hurrying to her home, they found her barricaded behind locked doors with her 18-year-old son, Steve, apparently determined to hold them off with her heavy gauge weapon.

60X ESCAPES

When police threatened to force her out of the house with tear gas bombs, she replied she would "kill

Local Drivers Swamp Offices To Get Plates

Officers of the State highway patrol, located in the city hall, did a record business yesterday issuing new license plates to motorists.

More than 400 persons received the new 1936 plates. Inspector P. A. Leber, reported, Leber declared that if the weather had been better there probably would have been a bigger lineup of motorists.

City Traffic Officer Lou Bradson was the first Richmondite to get his license. Bradson plunked down $3 tax, plus the State personal property tax on his vehicle and received license number 50 95 01.

Local motorists may apply at the offices here and receive their license plates upon payment of the usual $3 fee, plus the personal property tax. In order to expedite the proceedings, Leber has asked that those applying have the correct change on hand.

Fees for commercial vehicles will be received at the local offices, but the plates will be sent from Sacramento. Non-residents may pay their license fees here but will receive their plates later.

The local offices will be open from 9 to 5 daily, except a half-day Saturday. They are closed all day Sunday.

Leber has urged every motorist to come early and avoid the rush—and also avoid paying a delinquent tax.

Sardine Case Is Transferred To The S. F. Courts

MARTINEZ, Jan. 2.—Taking the case under submission December 8, after hearing arguments on a defendant's motion for a change of venue, in the mandamus suit filed by three Contra Costa fish plants against the state fish and game commission, Superior Judge A. F. Bray today granted the motion transferring the case to San Francisco courts.

The fish plants, the Ozol Packing company, Point Edith Fisheries, and Edible Fish Meats & Oils, Inc., filed the petition for a writ of mandamus on November 23, to strengthen their position in their fight to force the fish and game commission to allow them to increase their 'take' of sardines.

They ask the court to command the commission to issue permits to take and receive a total of 3,885 tons of sardines during the 1935-1936 season at the rate of 777 tons per month.

In support of the writ procedure, the fish plants claim the same commission discriminated in allowing 4,320 tons per season as a quota to 35 plants which were in existence previous to this season and only half that amount or 2160 tons, to 10 new plants starting up this season.

Attorneys A. B. Tinning and T. H. Delap and Walter Slack of Richmond represent the fish plants while Ralph O. Marron, represents the state.

A LOW RECORD

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 2.—UP—The greatest American drought extended into Grays Harbor county, western region in the United States, in 1935, records for the year showed today. During the year only 74.49 inches of rain fell, the lowest on record. Highest on record was 1933, with 132.40. But the new powers beyond what they are now," year started off in typical fashion, with a 55-mile wind and heavy precipitation.

Rain Storm To Continue For 2 Days

(BY UNITED PRESS)

The second storm to blow in from mid-Pacific within a week struck the West Coast with full force Thursday and was expected to continue until Friday night or Saturday.

Centering at British Columbia, from where it crept southward over Washington and Oregon and extended as far south as the Salinas valley in California, the disturbance brought heavy rainfall and snow flurries.

Approximately an inch and a quarter of rain fell in the San Francisco bay region and the Sacramento valley from midnight Wednesday to Thursday evening.

The summit of the Sierra Nevada was laden with a new coat of snow. At Soda Springs and Chico, center of the winter sports region, approximately 40 inches covered the ground. Snow was falling Thursday night and probably will continue to fall throughout Friday, the U. S. Weather Bureau predicted.

The bureau forecasts further heavy precipitation in Northern California Friday, with possibility of clearing skies Saturday.

Farmers in Central California were jubilant, as the snowfall brought assurance of a plentiful supply of spring water and the rain fall ended an extended dry period in the valley areas.

A heavy gale blowing in from the sea delayed shipping in San Francisco harbor. The Matson Line liner was forced to anchor for several hours until the wind slackened.

Sciot Pyramid To Install Officers At Meeting Tonight

Nearly 200 are expected at the dinner this evening at 6:30 o'clock at Hotel Carqueize, which precedes colorful induction ceremonies of the new officers of the Richmond Pyramid of Sciot.

The menu will be made more delectable by entertainment furnished by the Polack Bros'. Show. This aggregation of talent has been secured for the mammoth indoor circus to be given in Oakland beginning January 13th by the Pyramids of the east bay area.

Supreme Pharaoh Ben Schmidt of San Anselmo will be the installing officer with Past Pharaoh Waldo Postel as master of ceremonies and Supreme Armees Lou Sutter of Oakland as installing marshal.

Dr. George A. Boehmer will take office as toparch, succeeding Allen J. Cundy in that exalted office.

NEW OFFICERS

Besides Dr. Boehmer, those taking office will be: Mobih, James R. Arbuckle; Armees, Ernest M. Marcus; pastaphori, Laverne F. Culbertson; scribe, Harry F. Chapman; chancellor, Judge John Moore; marshal, William A. Allison; Flaschar, Ben Schneider; Mazal, Glenn Purviance; standard bearer, George Parrill; Neokori, William W. Missing Bride Mystery Under Probe By Cops

BRIDGEPORT, Ohio, Jan. 2.—UP—Police tonight were unable to penetrate the mystery surrounding the disappearance 48 hours ago of pretty Ruth Starbuck, 23, a bride of six months.

The young woman's husband, Clinton Starbuck, relatively well-to-do jeweler, told highway patrolmen that he was convinced his wife had been kidnapped. No communications or ransom demands have been addressed to the family, however.

Starbuck based his belief on the fact that a strange car bearing Michigan license plates was seen cruising in the vicinity shortly before his wife's disappearance Tuesday night.

The young woman's hat and vanity case were picked up in the snow near her home Tuesday night. Tracks in the snow indicated a struggle.

Antone Rose Is Claimed By Death

Antone Rose, 19, of 1550 Gaynor avenue passed away at an early hour this morning, following an extended illness. He was a native of Crockett and had lived here three years and was a student at the high school.

Surviving are the mother, Mrs. Manuel Garcia of this city, two sisters, Mrs. Louise Deas and Mrs. Ann Nurmeson of Crockett and a brother, Frank, of Crockett.

Roseary will be said at the Wilson & Krutger chapel tonight at 8 o'clock. Services will be held tomorrow morning and interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

VISITORS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Demorest and son, Richard, of Berkeley, were visitors in Richmond Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Demorest, who formerly lived in this city, have just returned from a trip to Hollywood where they visited Mrs. Demorest's mother, Mrs. A. A. Winfree.

Mrs. C. Miller, Local Woman Dies At Home

Death last night claimed Char. Lotte Miller, well known Richmond woman who died at the Mira Vista home of her daughter, Mrs. Preston Neville at 475 Carlton avenue.

Deceased had been in poor health for a short time. She was a native of Sweden and had made her home with her daughter for the past six years.

In addition to Mrs. Neville she leaves a brother, Carl Nyman, of his still using 1935 license plates. Rockford, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Nyman, of Chicago and Mrs. Lena Franzen, of Chicago, Ill.

Funeral services are pending at the Ryan Funeral Home.

One Killed In Building Fall

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 2.—UP—One workman was killed and 15 others persons were injured, most of them gravely, when an old three-story building on Chacon street, downtown, caved in today while undergoing repairs.

The building formerly housed the Machadista newspaper, El Mercurio.

STATE WORKERS TAGGED

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 2.—UP—As start of a drive against motor-ists still using 1935 license plates, the State Patrolman George Fisher today made the rounds of the capitol parking places and tagged 48 cars, most of them owned by State employees.

State Rights Are Upheld In Talk By Borah

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—UP—Senator William Borah said tonight he believed that "effective social security legislation could be passed under the existing constitution."

The Idaho Republican said he saw no reason for amending the constitution at this time. His remarks were in connection with publication of his article on the Supreme Court in the February issue of Red Book magazine.

"I'm not in favor of limiting state powers beyond what they are now," he said. "We can't have a great with a 55-mile wind and heavy precipitation."

First Marriage Of '36 Performed By County Judge

The honor of officiating at the first marriage of the new year in this county is claimed by Superior Judge T. P. Johnston, at Martinez.

His honor reported yesterday that just a few minutes after midnight on New Year's Day, a couple appeared at his home, woke the slumbering jurist and asked that he marry them.

Attired in pajamas, dressing gown and slippers, Judge Johnston united in marriage Gay Hovens, an attorney at the county engineer's office and Miss Irene Lloyd, of Martinez.

Commanche Is
The Mud Lark
Of E. C. Dogdom

Into the spotlight today, goes Commanche, 63 pound, greyhound whose sleek white coat, splashed with mud, has crossed the finish line three consecutive times in the rain at El Cerrito track. Commanche won his third straight last night, easily outdistancing Barnet and Gold Upset in the double option finale.

Mrs. B. Dunsinger's huge dog certainly takes the toga as the best heavy-going dog of the winter meeting. Three times he has covered a mile in 29.4 seconds, despite rain and mud. That takes a heart, sure footing and plenty of stamina. And Commanche has all of that. And more. Last night he returned $10.40 preference and $25 in the double with Redesto, which had won his second straight in the sixth race.

If experts were called on to name the best mudlark of the meet Commanche might rank tops.

Murder Charge
Is Sworn To In Death Of Man

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 2.—UP—A murder charge was prepared to night against John Kayle, 63, a whose moonshine cabin early today

Hugh Jean Sloan, 41, Hubbard farm er, was shot and killed.

Kayle, while still under the influence of home-distilled liquor, admitted the slaying but said it was in self-defense. Kayle said he was in bed when Sloan entered, choked him and demanded money. He did not recognize his neighbor, Kayle asserted, and fired with a revolver under his pillow.

Sloan was shot once in the abdomen and three times in the back.

Dr. Paul Pemberton estimated it was at least two hours before Kayle went to the residence of a neighbor and reported the killing.

Kayle served a year in Federal prison, McNeil Island, two years ago on a liquor conviction. Sloan leaves his mother, and a brother,

Carl, Portland.

MOSCRIP HAS
EYE INJURED IN ROSE GAME

PASADENA, Jan. 2.—UP—American Jim (Monk) Moscrip, Stanford end, lay on a hotel bed tonight under observation of physicians for an injury that may impair the sight of his left eye.

The injury, only serious casualty of the Rose Bowl game between Stanford and Southern Methodist yesterday in which the Indian warriors from Palo Alto won by a 7-0 score, was disclosed while Moscrip was in the Stanford dressing room after the game.

He said his sight was blurred and the eye was found to be bloodshot. Dr. Fritz Roth, team physician examined it and said he did not believe the injury was as serious as that which nearly cost the eyesight of Frank Abustiza, Moscrip's teammate on the "vowing" freshman team which closed its football career yesterday.

Abustiza suffered a ruptured retina, which ended his playing days. Dr. Roth insisted Moscrip remain in his hotel room until Saturday, under close observation of physicians. The Indians end said he felt a blow in the temple from someone's elbow when he was going down under a kick.

Ten Are Facing
Arrest On AAA
Fraud Charges

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 2.—UP—A conspiracy through which two Federal employees and eight southwestern cattlemen allegedly shifted drought-stricken cattle through several sales to fraudulently obtain more than $10,000 in AAA funds was revealed tonight.

Cattle suitable for canning and distribution to persons on relief allegedly were condemned to slaughter and burial, then returned to the conspirators for resale to the government.

The ten men, including Dr. David Luckey, former Missouri State veterinarian and later an AAA agent and Dow Clayton, a Federal cattle appraiser were sought under capias warrants tonight by a U. S. marshal. Those arrested will be taken to Kansas City tomorrow.

HILO, Hawaii, Jan. 2.—UP—Union seamen tonight prepared to return to work aboard two freighters tied up here by a strike order following discharge of eight stevedores.

Release of the ships, the Mauna and the Helen Whittier was effected under a temporary agreement.

Shipowners involved said that the workers involved in the walk-out on the docks which followed discharge of the stevedores verbally agreed to return to their jobs.

GEORGE NORRIS FINED, GIVEN 3 MONTHS TERM

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 2.—UP—Grocer George W. Norris who almost disrupted a Nebraska senatorial election in 1930 by filing against the famous Senator of the same name was sentenced today to three months in jail and fined $100.

Grocer Norris was sentenced on a perjury conviction which grew out of his testimony before a senatorial investigating committee. United States District Judge T. C. Munger allowed him to post $1,500 appeal bond and remain at liberty.

NO RACE MADE

The convicted man never did make a race for the post of Senator George W. Norris because the State Supreme court ruled that his filing for the Republican senatorial nomination arrived a day late.

Norris became the second man convicted of perjury in the affair. Previously, courts found that Victor Seymour, Lincoln attorney who managed western senatorial candidates for the Republican party had committed perjury before the same senatorial committee.

DELIBERATE PERJURY

Seymour recently completed serving a six months term for perjury. He testified before the committee that he had nothing to do with Norris' candidacy. Norris was alleged to have testified falsely that he was not paid to enter the senatorial campaign.

Judge Munger found that some of Norris' statements before Senators Gerald P. Nye and Porter H. Dale were "deliberate perjury and therefore a matter which can't be glossed over."

U. S. May Ask World To Use More Silver

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—UP—Silver conferences between American and Mexican fiscal authorities now have centered on the problem of encouraging central banks throughout the world to increase use of the metal in their currency reserves, it was learned tonight.

At the same time, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said that the Administration is holding international conferences looking toward wider use of silver with gold in monetary reserves.

He cited to newspaper correspondents a message to Congress by President Roosevelt on May 22, 1934, in which the chief executive said:

"I have begun to confer with some of our neighbors in regard to the use of both silver and gold, preferably on a co-ordinated basis, as a standard of monetary value. Such an agreement would constitute an important step forward toward a monetary unit of value more equitable and stable in its purchasing and debt-paying power."

BEST YEAR IN SOLON WILL HISTORY FOR OPEN FIGHT BANK AMERICA ON ADDRESS

Bank of America National Trust & Savings Association, largest bank in the United States outside New York City, in 1935 experienced the record year of its history, with deposits, resources and earnings all registering their all-time marks. It was announced yesterday by A. P. Giannini, chairman.

In addition to attaining the highest recorded totals, the deposits, resources and earnings of the bank in 1935 showed their greatest comparative gain over any preceding years in the bank's history.

Bank of America N. T. & S. A. is the fourth largest bank of the nation, preceded only by Chase National Bank, National City Bank and Guaranty Trust Company, all of New York, in total amount of deposits and resources.

Deposits of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. in the past increased $176,933,000 to a total of $1,155,265,000 as of December 31, 1935.

Total resources of the bank on December 31 stood at $1,277,419,000, an increase of $135,096,000 for the year just closed.

Earnings of the bank for 1935 totaled $16,276,000, an amount equal to $8.14 a share on 2,000,000 outstanding shares of capital stock. In 1934, earnings totaled $10,530,000, or $4.26 1/2 a share on the same number of outstanding shares.

During 1935 the bank paid $6,000,000 in dividends, including the $1,000,000 extra dividend declared in the last quarter. Dividends amounted to $3 a share during the past year, as against $1.87 1/2 a share in 1934, when a total of $3,750,000 was disbursed.

In addition to dividend payments, $6,573,000 of the bank's 1935 earnings was allocated to reserves and $3,703,000 went into surplus and undivided profits, which totaled $50,867,000 at the close of the year.

The recently organized Installment Loan Department was very active during 1935 and will expand its scope materially during 1936. Giannini said. He pointed out that installment loans in the amount of $18,000,000 were made during 1935 in the form of automobile financing, personal loans and modernization loans, and stated that it is planned to continue this type of lending throughout 1936 even should the government cease to insure modernization and equipment loans after April 1.

Keglets Jump In Favor With Beer Drinkers

"Introducing The Beer-Keg's Little Double!"—This is the sensational advertising campaign for Acme Beer—in keglet, which is now running in practically every leading metropolitan newspaper throughout the West!

Acme beer is the first and only western beer to be provided in this new, superior metal container; and as Acme is already the West's most popular beer, the sales of Acme beer in keglet are increasing its leadership by a record-breaking margin. Retailers everywhere are reporting unprecedented demand for this superior, non-fattening beer in keglet.

The keglet offers many definite advantages to beer-lovers. Its perfect lining truly protects the draught beer flavor of Acme beer—all the way from brewery to home. Acme beer in keglet is light-proof in the refrigerator—cools faster—opens easily and eliminates the usual cash deposit.

These arresting facts are strikingly presented and told to the millions of western beer lovers in every forceful advertisement about Acme beer in keglet. Just as important, these alluring advertisements remind the consumer of the fact that "you can always be sure of getting America's finest and the West's most popular beer by asking for Acme—in keglet, bottle, or on draught."

To further increase the effectiveness of this aggressive campaign for Acme beer in keglet, retailers are being supplied with striking display material in full color.

WILL WED

payment of the adjusted service certificates, but to permit a more orthodox method of financing the debt was reached at a meeting of 14 members of the Long steering committee. Representative Wright Pittman, Democrat, Texas, said his group would reserve the right to oppose any effort to impose new taxes to pay the bonds.

BONUS BILL

Shortly before the committee acted, Majority Leader Joe T. Robinson of the Senate forecast enactment of a bonus bill which would meet with President Roosevelt's approval. The Byrnes-Stetler bill, which provides for immediate payment of 97 per cent of the present value of the certificates probably will be used as the basis for the compromise measure, he indicated.

Meanwhile Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, and Representative Sam McKeynolds, Democrat, Tennessee, chairmen of the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees, conferred again with Secretary of State Cordell Hull on neutrality legislation. In a two-hour session they completed a draft of the proposed bill. Its details were not revealed, but Pittman said he would introduce it on the first calendar day, probably Monday.

BATTLE ON SPEECH

As Mr. Roosevelt worked at top speed putting the finishing touches to his message on the state of the union, Democratic leaders vigorously defended his decision to read it to a joint session of the two houses at night and over a nation-wide radio hookup.

Chairman Henry F. Fletcher, of the Republican National Committee, said the President's decision to broadcast the message brought it down to the "level of a political speech."

Today Rotunson and Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of the House struck back. Byrns said Fletcher's attack "looks like an attempt to create a purely political disturbance." He added that the "press is should be given to the nation as widely as possible."

MEET AT 9 P. M.

Byrns conferred with Secret Service men on means of guarding Mr. Roosevelt when he reaches Capitol Hill. More than 1000 requests have been received by House attaches for 124 aisle seats and members were deluged with requests for gallery seats.

Meanwhile, Chairman John McSwain, Democrat, South Carolina, of the House Military Affairs committee, said he would introduce a bill soon calling for a $50,000,000 five-year program to expand the army air force. The measure will propose that 800 planes be built annually.

BOURLON MAKES OFFER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—UP—Rep. Maury Maverick, D. Texas, tonight offered to give the Republican National Committee his scheduled broadcast time on Saturday night because "they will do more good for the Democratic party than if I speak."

Chairman Henry Fletcher of the Republican National Committee last night asked both Columbia and National Broadcasting companies to grant free time to such Republican speakers as he selected, to match the time taken by President Roosevelt's message to Congress tomorrow night.

October, Cupid's Banner Month

MARTINEZ, Jan. 2.—A marked increase in the number of marriage licenses issued during 1935 was revealed today in figures announced by County Clerk S. C. Wells.

There were 666 licenses issued during the year, in comparison with 564 in 1934, an increase of 102. Contrary to the usual expectation June was not the largest month for marriage licenses this year. Last ranked fourth.

The largest number of licenses issued was 69, during October. Licenses issued by months, follow: January, 44; February, 29; March, 62; April, 54; May, 63; June, 61; July, 56; August, 67; September, 61; October, 69; November, 58; December, 45.

Condemned Man Given Reprieve

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 3.—UP—One day before his scheduled execution Charles D. Jones, 42, condemned Turlock slayer, today was reprieved by Governor Frank F. Merriam.

The reprieve postponed date of the scheduled hanging at San Quentin prison to March 27.

178 INQUESTS CONDUCTED BY CORONER HERE

Automobile accidents took a toll of 43 lives in Contra Costa county during the year 1935, Coroner G. L. Abbott reported yesterday.

During the year there were 178 inquests into deaths. Collisions between motor cars claimed ten lives; collisions between motor cars and pedestrians accounted for 15; cars crashing into fixed objects caused seven deaths; non-collision auto accident killed seven and auto-train wreck four.

Industrial accidents resulted in nine deaths, four from falls, one each from burns, electric electrocution, drowning and machinery.

In other cases burns caused three deaths; falls, seven, drownings, 12; carbon monoxide gas, one; poison, one; train accidents, three; gunshot wounds, two; electric pump, one; scorching by bull, one; airplane accidents, one, for a total of 32.

Three cases of justifiable homicide were investigated. One was undetermined; four more resulted from gunshot wounds; two auto murders were investigated. There were 10 suicides—4 caused by gunshot wounds; 4 by poison; three by hanging; 1 by one by hanging. 37 deaths were from unknown causes and 69 deaths were recorded natural.

MARX TRIO OF FUN MAKERS AT FOX TODAY

"A Night At The Opera" with the laugh promoters who can regale an audience with every known antic and hilarious dialogue, the Marx Brothers, is the main attraction at the Fox theater today.

There are comedy moments such as a scene in a two-by-four cabin on a boat, looking with half of the entire passenger list in which a mechanical duel is staged between Harpo and a moth. There is a committee in New York to welcome the merry madmen who, supposed to fly across the ocean, arrive in a passenger boat.

There is the finale where the three ascending to the acme of lacy, wreck a grand opera performance with Groucho pursuing a rich widow all over the house and Harpo going Tarzan "trapezing" in the files as the backdrops chance behind laffed singers.

Bedlam reigns but the course of true love, between two young sinners, finds its happy haven after weathering the storm of laughing chaos.

In addition to the three, Kitty Carlisle, Allen Jones and Henry King head a large supporting cast.

Union Seamen In Plea To U.S. To End Pay Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—UP.—Complaining that Pacific coast ship owners have refused to meet maritime union committees on questions involving wage and hour disputes, officials of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific today appealed to representatives of the Federal labor department to end a dispute that has tied up 49 steam schooners operating in the coastal trade.

Harry Lundberg, federation president, and F. M. Kelly, secretary, telegraphed Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, and Edward McGrady, assistant secretary, asking that the labor department ask that representatives of the Shipowners Association of the Pacific meet with representatives of the Sailors' Union to adjust the dispute. The seamen are demanding a six-hour day for work performed in port.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—One of the most interesting of European development, reported in confidential dispatches from Germany, has been the change in the diplomacy of Adolf Hitler.

Until recently Hitler was arrogant and domineering, because Germany was weak. Now that Germany is stronger and holds the balance of power in Europe, he has become more conciliatory.

This has been noticeable during recent conferences with the French and British Ambassadors. Hitler has been most considerate, but at the same time extremely firm that Germany must stay out of the Italian imbroglio.

While Hitler did not say this, American diplomatic representatives deduce that Hitler will wait until his neighbors wear themselves out in a European war, and then take whatever he wants in Austria, Czechoslovakia and the Russian Ukraine.

PAN AMERICAN CONTRACTS

In order to expedite its new transatlantic airmail and passenger service, Pan American Airways is raiding the Treasury Department personnel. It has offered a job to L. W. (Chip) Robert Jr., deputy Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Hiring of officials from the Administration in power has been Pan American policy in the past.

Cordillier's Assistant Secretary of Commerce, Bill McCracken, became Pan American's attorney in Washington. During the Hoover Administration, Evan Young, American Minister to Bolivia, became vice-president of Pan American to organize Latin American contracts.

Under Hoover, the late Alan Winslow, son-in-law of Hoover's Under Secretary of State, joined Pan American to help arrange European landing privileges.

Now, in the Roosevelt era, Chip Robert is offered the job as contact man.

BLUE OVERALLS BIDDLE

When the millionaire Biddle of Philadelphia sent blue-stockings son Francis to Washington as chairman of the National Labor Relations board, it was publicized throughout the country. But when another son went to Washington in blue overalls and flannel shirt, almost nobody heard about it.

The second son, George Biddle, was encountered by one of the Merry Go-Rounders on the top of a high ladder and scaffolding in a corridor of the Justice Department.

Mr. Biddle was working with a paint brush on the ceiling of the corridor. The Merry Go-Rounder was on the floor. Arranging an introduction was awkward.

A loud cough. No result. Mr. Biddle was engrossed in his painting.

"Pardon me, is Mr. Biddle here?" The gentleman on the scaffolding looked down.

"I am Mr. Biddle."

A very awkward moment. Should the interviewer climb up the scaffolding? Or should he shout: "Oh Mr. Biddle, I've come to interview you—won't you please come down?"

But at this juncture Mr. Biddle, a perfect gentleman, climbed down the ladder, extended a painty hand, and said: "I am Mr. Biddle."

George Biddle, famous painter, educated at the same preparatory school and college as Roosevelt, is as well known to art galleries of Europe as his brother, Francis is to labor circles of the U.S.A.

And like his brother, he is interested in justice. The mural he is creating in the Department of Justice bears the legend: "The Sweatshop and Tenement."

Rites Pending For Victim Of Auto Accident

Funeral arrangements are pending here for the late Fred Benson, 64, of Pinole, who was killed New Year's eve in an automobile accident in Pinole. Benson was allegedly struck down by a car driven by Robert Raftery of Berkeley.

Deceased was employed by the Standard Oil company at the tank farm. He was a native of Sweden and had lived in Pinole for 13 years. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Clark of New Hampshire and a sister, Mrs. Joyce Jenness of Vermont.

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Theater-don'ts royalty, swollen with profits, is flying Florida-ways—Laurence Schwab, Sam Harris and Max Gordon are in Miami, Irving Berlin, with his daughter Mary Ellen, and Hassard Short are off to Nassau—Moss Hart, incidentally, is the most prosperous librettist on Broadway, what with writing, investing in, and doctoring shows.

A mounted cop chasing his horse on foot up Sixth avenue. He had hitched the animal to the bumper of a parked car. The owner, driving off unaware of the trailer, startled by the sound of pursuing hoof beats.—Will B. Johnston, New York cartoonist, will provide the material for the next Marx Brothers' film.—Will has one of the most inventive minds in the business.

There's a space-saving furniture store on Thirty-fourth street, near Lexington avenue.—Typewriter tables unfold into kitchenettes, pianos open up into beds.—Buy a humble and you've outfitted a three-room apartment.—Mitty Mayfair, part package of dancing feet, is varying the menu at the Waldorf-Astoria's set room.—The Biltmore has just opened a new bar for men only.—Sophie Tucker is singing at the House of Morgan.—I'm just reminded that Grace Moore once sang for her supper at the Black Cat down in the Village.—College lads and lassies brightened up the town noticeably during the holidays.—It's years since I've heard so many all-star songs warbled in buses and on street corners.

TRADE — A sophisticated colleague of mine, who lives in the wilds of Long Island, brought his ten-year-old son into town for a holiday treat. He began by taking the youngster to lunch at the Commodore, where they checked their coats and entered the dining room.

Seated at the flower-decked table, the lad looked around wide-eyed for a time. "Gee, it would be swell to live in a big city," he announced as a starter. Then, suddenly, an anxious look came into his eyes.

"Say pop," he whispered, "did you give our coats away when we came in?"

"Why, no," his father reassured him. "We got a check for them from the girl."

"Oh, I see," answered the relieved lad. "You sold them!"

MELLOW—Old New Yorkers still cling to fashionable Murray Hill as a residential center. Mrs. James Roosevelt, the President's mother, used to live on East Thirty-sixth street as a young woman, before the migration to Fifth and Park avenues. She's no longer there, but others have stuck tenaciously to the old ramparts.

CHAPTER XIX
KURT sounded Christine out on the subject of Larker the next day, but was not much enlightened.

"John?" She shrugged. "Oh, he's a good company man, hard-headed when it comes to business, but he lets Ann nag him to death."

"Yes, I rather imagine she would nag," Kurt murmured. "Still, I feel sorry for them both."

Christine laughed and changed the subject. "I hear Sonia Andrews is here. She was at Le Martin's for dinner last night wasn't she?"

"Do you know her?" Kurt asked quickly. "No put from what I hear she must be quite the femme fatale. Is she?"

"I've never understood what the femme fatale was," Kurt parried with a shrug. "He had no desire to discuss Sonia with Christine and when, later in the day, he received a note from Sonia asking him to come to see her he did not mention the fact to his sister."

When he arrived at her flat he found her waiting for him alone.

"What has happened to your hands?" she exclaimed the moment he entered.

Kurt had almost forgotten the damage done by the barbed wire he clanked down at his oadly scratched hands and smiled.

"I had some fun last night when I left you."

"It doesn't look like fun. Tell me."

He told her the story quickly, omitting no detail. When he had finished she frowned.

"John Larker," she murmured. "That's funny."

"Very funny," Kurt grinned sarcastically. "Sonia was silent a moment."

"Bruce Daision is here," Kurt said. "A regular gathering of the clan."

"If you had to choose someone here to do something dangerous whom would you trust?"

"Yes," she laughed. "That's how I feel about it too. Will you do something for me?"

"I can."

"I want you to suggest to Ann Larker that Pádasopoulos and

LEAGUE, G. O. P. BOURBONS, FILE CASH REPORTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—UP.—The American Liberty League's chief financial backers last year were members of the DuPont munitions family of Wilmington, Del., the League revealed today in a report to the House of Representatives.

The DuPonts contributed or loaned more than 25 percent of the League's receipts of $483,175, the report showed.

These loans and contributions, coupled with large amounts from other big business leaders, gave the Liberty League financial resources greater than those of the Republican party. The League's receipts for the year ran only some $42,000 behind those of the Democratic party.

The two party organizations also filed reports.

The Democrats listed receipts of $525,635, disbursements of $502,934, a cash balance of $22,710, and unpaid obligations amounting to $403,277.

The Republicans reported contributions of $407,450, disbursements of $199,166, and a surplus of $260,480.

The Liberty League reported expenditures totaling $389,973. Of this figure $54,750 went to J. P. Shouse, president, for salary and traveling expenses.

It had been reported that efforts to call out union members of the crew would be made in a sympathy move connected with tie-up of two freighters, the Mana and Helen Whittier, in Hilo.

The Liberty League, founded some 18 months ago "to preserve the constitution and American theories in government," said it would welcome contribution of small sums—anything from $1 up—from the "man in the street."

SILVER MOOTH By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON (AUTHOR OF "CASTLE OF DOOM")

Kurt Hastings, secretly known as the Silver Mooth, who makes a business of dangerous adventures, is persuaded by a stranger to take a mysterious packet of documents from Rome to Cairo. On the boat he meets a beautiful woman, Sonia Andrews who seems to know of his mission and warns him against another passenger. Stefan Tobarern, Larker, in Alexandria, Kurt is attacked by Tobarern's chief clerk, Menelas. Pádasopoulos escapes, however, and succeeds in delivering the packet in Cairo. He then hastens to his sister, Christine Masters, at Kom-el-Ahdar. "Are you a new undercurrent of hostility among the Europeans there, and shortly after his arrival comes news of the sudden death of Menelas Pádasopoulos. A few days later Kurt is secretly warned by John Larker, one of the Masters friends, to leave Kom-el-Ahdar immediately, or be sorry for staying."

THERE was no resisting the appeal in her eyes. Kurt turned his back behind him for good this time.

"I promise to help you in any way I can short of murder," he said very quietly.

She smiled that warm smile of hers and held out her hand. Kurt pressed his lips to it.

"Thank you," she murmured. Then in a more matter-of-fact voice "I can't give you all the details. I'm in the dark about most of them myself, but the fact is: all of us here are engaged in a role enterprise. Yes even your brother-in-law. We have a chief from whom we receive orders. Recently however someone has been forcing counter orders. Menelas is not the first to die. There have been two others. Now we have come to the conclusion that someone here in Kom-el-Ahdar is responsible."

"But no one can plan wholesale murder without being caught," Kurt protested.

"No," Sonia smiled grimly. "One man died in an aeroplane accident. Another died from eating bad fish. Even Menelas' death passed without investigation."

"SURELY the police are interested in this series of accidental deaths?"

"No because there is nothing to connect them and they have happened in different countries."

"And you suspect Ann of having a part in this?"

"Not actively out. I think she knows something. It's funny about John though because he has been against the whole thing from the beginning. It is difficult to believe that he is trying to get sole control for himself."

"So you believe that is the motive behind this trouble?"

"Obviously. Greed and ambition. Kurt, you've got to help find out who it is. I'd rather hate to be the next victim."

"You won't," Kurt said grimly.

SONIA smiled a little and raised her eyebrows. Beautiful natural arched eyebrows. Kurt thought irrelevantly. "Do please sit down Kurt. You make me nervous pacing about the room so restlessly."

Her words made him suddenly conscious of his unease. She had a disturbing power over him. "Sorry," he said. "But I must go."

She looked up at him, her eyes lazily slightly mocking, but she made no attempt to detain him. "Very well," she said. "I'll see you after a while. You carry a weapon?"

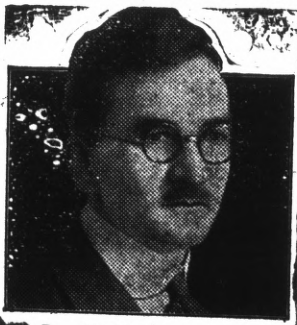

Kurt laughed grimly. "In the future I shall not be without it. Thanks for warning me, Sonia."

Not Guilty Is Plea Of Woman In Mate Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2-UP—

Pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity were entered by Mrs. Amy Dumbrell, 50, when the accused before Superior Judge Frank Deasy today to answer charges of first degree murder in the shooting of her husband, John Dumbrell, Sr., former bank executive.

Judge Deasy said she would be examined by three psychiatrists before her trial February 17.

Mrs. Dumbrell offered the not guilty plea without hesitancy but showed much reluctance in making the additional plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

In confessions given police at the time of the slaying, Mrs. Dumbrell accused her husband of infidelity and said she shot him because he threatened to have their son arrested for allegedly forging the father's name to a check.

Lindberghs Are Under Guard At English Hotel

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 2-UP—The Lindberghs have found the privacy for which they fled America and sought quiet sanctuary in England—as far as the English are concerned. The only newspapermen trailing Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife and small son, Jon, tonight were Americans. All British reporters have left.

English newspapers now are printing only the scantiest paragraphs of the famous flying family, indicating the Lindberghs will be given the fullest privacy.

To keep out the American reporters, and to prevent questioning of hotel employees who serve the Lindberghs in their secluded suite at their hotel here, a private detective paced before their rooms.

The Lindberghs have left their suite only once since they arrived Tuesday after a 10-day voyage from New York on a freighter, and that was for a two-hour automobile ride yesterday.

Inside the suite, Lindbergh was reported chafing at his self-imposed seclusion, nervously pacing the floor with his hands behind his back between numerous telephone calls.

41 HURT WHEN TROOPS FIRE UPON RIOTERS

CAIRO, Jan. 2-UP—Egyptian soldiers were used tonight for the first time to suppress anti-British student rioters.

Bloody rioting, in which 41 were wounded, apparently was out of police control when the government called out steel-helmeted troops armed with guns and bayonets.

As bricks and jagged chunks of pavement rained down on them, the government forces opened fire with shotguns, wounding 14 students with birdshot.

The student front melted before the gunfire and the rioters fled disorderly through the streets. The police then charged them, cracking heavy batons against their skulls and sending eight more to the hospital.

Nineteen government men were injured in the student "bombardment," including eight Egyptian soldiers, eight Egyptian policemen and three officers. They were treated at a hospital for bruises and cuts.

The students were in a sullen, angry mood tonight. They invaded the center of the city by the hundreds, shouting, "down with Nafas Pasha" (leader of the Wafd, or Nationalist party) and "down with England!"

PARALYSIS, Paralysis is commonly regarded as a disease, whereas it is only a symptom. It is defined as a "loss of motion or sensation in a living part, and when we say that a person is paralyzed, we are referring to the loss of movement, seen in some particular part. This loss of movement may last for on a short time or may be permanent.

Movement is originated in voluntary muscles, by a command arising in the brain itself, the command to move being sent out over a special nerve called a motor nerve. There are two halves in the brain and each half takes care of the muscles of the opposite side of the body. That is, an interference with the impulses coming from the left side of the brain will cause paralysis of the muscles of the right side of the body, and vice versa. This is brought about by a crossing over of the structures, which cross in the form of an X, impulses coming from the right side being switched over to the nerve fibres going to the left side and those from the left half of the brain crossing over to the right side. The impulses which move the muscles originate in the appropriate brain centers of the brain, called the motor areas. The impulse travels along the motor pathway by direct contact. Any interruption at any point along this motor pathway will break up the connection and the impulse will then fail to reach the right muscle. Such an interruption may arise in the brain or in the spinal cord. If the interference arises in the spinal cord, then the paralysis which follows will occur on the same side of the body.

The various descriptive terms applied to paralysis refer to the distribution of the loss of movement: thus, monoplegia means that one limb is paralyzed or that one side of the face is affected; hemiplegia means a half-stroke and refers to paralysis of the face, leg and arm on one side of the body. Hemiplegia is a very common form of paralysis, and simply means that all of one side is affected; however, certain parts may escape, as for example, the face or the trunk muscles, leaving an entire arm and an entire leg involved.

The causes of paralysis include: injury to the motor fibres by accident, toxic conditions, infections, rupture of a blood vessel, and the formation of a blood clot on the brain. The most common cause of paralysis is that form resulting from hardening of the arteries which induces a "stroke." The stroke being followed by paralysis. Blood vessel disorders in which the arteries become hard and brittle at the same time that very small points of softening may give way, bringing on the hemorrhaging which induces paralysis. The paralysis may entirely disappear within a reasonable period of time, yet the possibility of a recurrence of the stroke should be borne in mind. When hemiplegia is caused by a damaged condition of the spinal cord, the paralysis will occur on the side which is the same as the side of the cause, any cause which has been injured; if it is caused by an accident to one of the arteries in the brain, the paralysis will develop on the side of the body opposite to the side of the brain involved.

In the treatment of any form of paralysis it is important to determine the cause and the treatment should be directed to removing that cause. Sometimes it is possible to prevent a stroke by having the patient use a careful diet, avoid mental strain or excitement, secure adequate elimination, and by having him avoid strenuous activity. When the physician in charge of the case recognizes the fact that due to hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure, a stroke is a distinct possibility he should instruct the patient in those careful habits of living which will give the weakened arteries sufficient protection to prevent a stroke from occurring.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Canned Vegetables)
Question: Mrs. G. S. wants to know: "Is it safe to use the canned vegetables in a salad without pre-heating?"

Answer: It is entirely safe to use the canned vegetables just as they come from the can, in the preparation of salads. Remember, a canned food is a food that has been sterilized by heat and for this reason it is safe to use any food may be. You will find that canned carrots and peas, small green peas, asparagus, baby lima beans, etc., may be used in gelatin salads or in combination vegetable salads through the winter. Keep your canned vegetables in a cool place and learn to use them as a valuable supply during the coming months, when fresh vegetables are relatively scarce. The canners do everything possible to protect the purity and wholesomeness of the foods coming to you out of the cans, you can rely on that. If the ends have bulged out, or if the food has an unpleasant odor, it is better to discard it, but probably you could use canned vegetables for years without finding one can that you discard.

(Cracking Skin)
Question: Mrs. P. W. writes: "I have been troubled by having deep cracks form in the palms of my hands. They are so sore that it is hard to use the hands in any way. Can you tell me what is wrong?"

Answer: Perhaps you have developed an extreme form of eczema; however, there are a number of skin disorders which might produce the symptom you describe and I suggest that you consult a doctor and have him tell you the exact name of the disorder he finds present. If you will write again, giving me the diagnosis, I will then send you any advice possible. Enclose a large, self-addressed envelope with your letter.

Those Who Stutter Are Sensitive, But Not Alone in the World

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

RECENT surveys conducted by the government at Washington have disclosed that ten per cent of our population have some sort of speech defect. At a White House conference a few years ago it was reported that a million school children between the ages of five and eighteen were so defective in speech that they require treatment and training, and that only sixty per cent of these were receiving the necessary attention.

Speech defects are not a new phenomenon. In 1913 ten per cent of speech defects over 1,000,000 are estimated to be three times as many as the blind and deaf combined. This report is enlightening to all of us and should be a comfort to the parents who think their child who stutters is unusual and something to be ashamed of.

It is not an uncommon experience to examine a stutterer who thinks he is the only person in the world so afflicted. This attitude does not help his condition, but makes him more sensitive and anxious to hide his infirmity. The most common of speech disorders are lisping, unusual sound productions, poor mouth control, extreme hoarseness and stuttering.

The more uncommon types are cleft palate speech, too high or too low pitch, and inability to pronounce certain words.

Can Be Accidental

Many of these difficulties are due to congenital or accidental malformation of the organs of speech. These include cleft palate, have lip, too small or too large tongue, tongue tie, irregularity of the teeth and deformed jaws. Obstructions in the nose and throat, such as large adenoids and tonsils, growths or injuries to the nose and throat in the vocal cords, may all be causes of impaired speech.

These can almost all be overcome by surgery or treatment for the abnormal condition. They should be attended to early in life before the effort to talk against these defects has caused over or under development of the muscles of speech.

Many of the severe types of speech disorders are due to lack of development of the central nervous system and can be overcome by training under direction of those who have made an accurate study of this nervous system. This great majority of children are born with a well developed speech mechanism and, barring accident or disease, will by the age of four develop an intelligible speech pattern.

The idea many parents have that a child must undergo a period of defective speech and can't grow it is the cause of many of the severe defects. If a child lisps, stutters, or talks unintelligibly, talk after the age of four years an examination should be made to disclose the source of trouble.

The effort to correct their defects by explaining how to hold the mouth, tongue and lips is not often successful. A child does not learn to talk by watching how adults hold their lips, tongues or mouths, but by simple effortless reproduction of the sounds they hear.

Matters of Hearing

If they do not hear well, they cannot produce the sound correctly and when this condition exists, a careful examination of the ears and nasal passages should be made at once. Waiting in the hope that time will overcome the trouble is disappointing.

Of course, many of the minor abnormalities will disappear as the child develops and the hearing and muscular mechanism of speech improve, but the severe types of lisping and stuttering will not improve.

This is proved by the fact that there is about the same percentage of deafness among adults as in the lower grades of our schools. One of the great causes of stuttering and impaired speech is the interference of parents, nurses, and schools in trying to change the child's one-sidedness.

It has been proved that each child by heredity is predisposed to the development of speech in one side of the brain only. In this study it has been found that the hand, if allowed to act naturally, will usually indicate on which side of the brain speech is controlled.

By that we mean that a strong, more active left side of the brain will result in the use of the right hand as a matter of choice and a more developed right side of the brain tends to the use of the left hand and arm.

Cooking With Brown Sugar

When baking with molasses or brown sugar a lower oven temperature is needed, and slower cooking. Otherwise the sides of the brown before the center of the cakes or cookies are equally baked. The cook's aim should be for a uniform color over all.

ONE of the persistent drawbacks to modern civilization is the prevalence of the common cold. Many of the more difficult diseases have been conquered, but the cold germ has not yet been isolated. Big business loses some $2,000,000,000 a year because of its ravages. Therefore it is heartening to make the acquaintance of Dr. Alphonse Raymond Dochez, who has devoted his life to the problem of tracking down this enemy of man.

Dr. Dochez, who is professor of medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, has been after those germs for many years, and he thinks he may have found a vaccine that will make us cold and flu exempt. The laboratories at Columbia will give the new vaccine a thorough test, and it may not be long before the man on the street can make use of the new preventative.

As long ago as 1919 Dr. Dochez was on the trail of germs. At that time he began an effort to isolate the scarlet fever germ, and succeeded in his quest in 1924. He began his researches in the cause of colds in 1925 at the Presbyterian Hospital in company with Dr. C. S. Sibley, Miss Katherine C. Mills and Dr. Franklin Hanger. Their methods have been to find all the disease germs in existence, and by a process of elimination isolate the most offending ones.

Even at that the physician admits there are plenty of vicious germs still at large about which we know little or nothing. They are all guilty in the doctor's mind until proved otherwise.

Dr. Dochez was born in San Francisco and won his medical degree from Johns Hopkins. He later received several honorary degrees for his meritorious work in the field of medicine. During the World War he served as a major in the Medical Corps, and for a long time was a member of the staff of the Rockefeller Institute.

THE BRIDESMAID

Copyright, 1935, by Partridge.

This bridesmaid's dress, developed by a new feature, an extremely clever interpretation of the latest fashion, is so popular in bridesmaid fashions. The dress suggests a sleeve, with folds starting from the high neckline, punctuated with large jeweled clasps.

Type of Nose Dictates the Hairdressing

By JACQUELINE HUNT

MANY things determine the beauty of a face—the firmness and youthfulness of the contour, the texture and color of the skin and the attractiveness of individual features.

Women spend many precious hours experimenting with new make-up and new tricks to make their eyes more glamorous or their lips more seductive with unsatisfactory results—all because they ignore the leading actors in the beauty drama—their noses.

On your nose depends your style of hairdress, the way you should use your rouge, the kind of costume jewelry you can wear and many other things. What can you say for your own nose? Is it just right for you or do you bemoan its shape and appearance? Few women are satisfied with this feature.

The proper placing of make-up and the correct choice of rouge and lipstick shades first of all can do a great deal toward bringing large or irregular features into harmony.

Almost any face can be modeled into a pleasing oval with passably good features by the correct placing of rouge.

If you have a plump, short little nose and a round face, place the rouge high on your cheek bones, just beneath each eye and down in a slender inverted triangle with its apex on a line with the center of your eye. This little trick will seemingly give your nose length. But just a whiff of rouge on your ear lobes and your face will seem narrower.

Earrings of the dangling type, but not too extreme, will also give the face slenderness. But watch out if your round face has a double chin. Earrings have a way of calling attention to this unattractive but common feature.

If your face is slender with a nose that is too long for real beauty, place your rouge rather far out on your cheeks and blend it subtly over a larger area. Just a hint of rouge on the tip of the nose and a dash on the center of your chin will help to shorten both the long nose and the slender face. If you happen to have a dimple in your chin then the dash of rouge will help deepen it alluringly.

A long upper lip can be shortened by applying a faint touch of rouge along the little ridge that extends from the nose to the mouth. Never use a heavy application of rouge, especially if your nose is very long or unshapely.

Long or ungainly noses are made less conspicuous if you learn to use mascara, eyebrow pencil and lipstick skillfully to emphasize and enlarge your face. Use a powder and rouge that harmonize with your own complexion. If you have difficulty in finding the right powder for your skin, try a shade or two darker than you have been using.

Never powder your nose heavily unless you want it to stand out more prominently than ever. Too much concentration on any feature which has imperfections will only exaggerate its faults.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have a pinkish skin and red hair. Can you suggest the cosmetic and costume shades that would be best for me?"—Redtop.

Use a flesh shade of powder, to which a small amount of beige has been added. If you want to tone down your color, use a rosy-tinted rouge and scarlet lipstick. You can wear the lovely shades of aquamarine or turquoise blue and the new Veronese green with a golden shimmer this season. For more sober moments you can wear certain dark shades of brown and navy blue.

QUESTION: "My skin has managed to remain fine in texture and unblemished so far, but it does trouble me at times. It seems yellowish and unnecessarily oily part of the time. Would a bleaching mask or a good astringent prevent this?"—Mrs. L. T.

The periods of oiliness and sallowness are probably due to some physical disturbance that you should try to correct. It would be wise for you to use a mild astringent for discouraging the excess oiliness. A good circulation cream or a mask which clears up the sallowness temporarily. A simple home mask that you might like to use is plain buttermilk. Use a cup of buttermilk, pat a film of it liberally over your thoroughly cleansed skin and allow it to dry. Then apply a second coat and let it down for half an hour. When you get up rinse with warm water and the need and pat your skin dry. This is slightly bleaching and mildly astringent.

QUESTION: "Is it customary for a bride-to-be to give a return party for the guests at a shower in her home?"—I. C.

ANSWER: Usually she invites the guests to lunch, or tea at her home within two weeks of the shower. If the wedding plans interfere, she does this upon her return from the honeymoon.

Chiffon Gaining Favor For Dance Frock Wear

By IRENE VAIL

New York—After a careful survey it behooves me to report that chiffon, satin, velvet and silver lame represent the fabric choice of the majority. Chiffon appears to be established as a favorite with autumn dancers. Black, white, gray and flame are consistently mentioned in chiffon choices. Black accents distinguish gray or white. Creamy white and pale yellow also have their place in chiffons.

Lustrous satins are the preference of many women, always in vivid hues, such as coral, reds, greens, purples. Silver rather than gold has attained considerable popularity in the lames and metallic crepes, and these fabrics are in evidence at gay night spots.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "Is it correct to use the joint card of a man and wife for announcing the birth of a baby?"—Inez P.

ANSWER: When this is done the custom is to attach it to a tiny white card, engraved with the baby's name, with a narrow white satin ribbon. In the lower right-hand corner of this little card, where the address would appear, have printed the date of birth.

QUESTION: "In my presence recently my sister-in-law invited a mutual friend to dinner at her house without inviting me. Whether she intended to slight me I do not know. Anyway, at our next meeting I mean to tell her that she displayed poor manners."—Mrs. J. W.

ANSWER: You will offend your sister-in-law if you presume to teach her better manners. But then, maybe you don't care whether you do. The wiser course, obviously, is to forget the incident entirely. You'll be displaying better manners yourself if you do. To invite one person, and not another, when talking to two persons, is a discourtesy, but rarely intentional. It is more often prompted by impulse or ignorance. We must learn to take such things calmly.

QUESTION: "Is it customary for a bride-to-be to give a return party for the guests at a shower in her home?"—I. C.

ANSWER: Usually she invites the guests to lunch, or tea at her home within two weeks of the shower. If the wedding plans interfere, she does this upon her return from the honeymoon.

Dishes for Today

'Rolled' Dishes Range Gamut Of Flavorings

By JUDITH WILSON

ROLL IT up and slice it off, or just roll into individual bundles and serve, whether it is main course or dessert. These tempting, fragrant brown rolls are good to look at and good to eat.

The oldest of the dessert rolls is probably the jelly roll, made with delicate sponge cake, spread with homemade jelly, rolled and sliced. But now we have plum rolls—polys filled with juicy fruit and other mixtures, baked and served hot, or delectable confections that are rolled, chilled and sliced.

The main dish rolls may consist of a rich biscuit crust surrounding a savory mixture of meat or vegetables, or thin slices of beef, veal or ham enclosing a sage dressing or an epicurean mixture of chopped herbs, eggs or anchovies.

One of the advantages of the larger rolls is that you needn't worry if an extra guest drops in. Just slice them thinner and make as many servings as you wish.

Hamburger Roll

Chop an onion fine and saute until delicate brown in 2 tablespoons fat. Beat 1 egg, add 3/4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, a few drops of pepper and 1/2 cup of cracker crumbs. Add 1 pound of chopped beef and the fried onion. Form into a roll, place in a baking pan and bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes. Remove from the oven. Mix 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Roll out pie pastry and Cut in 2 tablespoons shortening and add enough milk, about 1/2 cup, to hold the ingredients together. Roll out the biscuit dough to a little larger than the meat roll. Cover with the biscuit dough and cut a design on top of dough with a knife. Brush with cream or egg wash. Bake in a hot oven 14 minutes or until the crust is done. Slice and serve with mushroom or tomato sauce.

Baked Apple Rolls

Mix and sift together 2 cups cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Mix 3/4 cup milk and 2 tablespoons butter or melted butter and combine with the sifted mixture. Roll out 1/4 inch thick, spread with softened butter and thinly sliced apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, roll up like a jelly roll and cut into 1-inch slices. Place on end in a well-oiled baking pan and pour over a sauce made as follows: Mix 3/4 cup sugar, 1/2 cup maple-flavored corn syrup, 2 tablespoons melted butter, a dash of nutmeg and 2 cups cold water. Cook the sauce until it thickens, about 5 minutes. Spread liberally with the figs, roll like a jelly roll and lay, cut edge down, on a buttered pan. Prick the top and bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes. Serve hot with Foamy Sauce.

There are any number of plates, even among the high varieties and necklines as we now know will stay high. In fact, they continue to mount. One very striking collar recently encountered had turned-over corners like a man's winged collar.

THE FILLING COUNTS

Rich Lemon Filling: 3/4 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons cake flour, dash of salt, 1/2 cup water, 1 egg, well beaten, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Combine sugar, flour, and salt in top of double boiler; add water and egg, mixing thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 minutes, or until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from boiling water; add butter, lemon juice and rind, and cool. Makes enough filling for 15x10-inch roll.

MODERN WOMEN

A Few Words on Kissing, Including the Victorian and the Modern

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

IT USED to be considered more than a mere breach of etiquette to kiss and tell. Apparently one is now free to kiss and free to tell, at least so one gathers after reading newspaper stories of questionnaires that have been going the rounds in certain colleges. Admitting to being kissed, not by one man but some ten or more, was not unusual, and what is even more astonishing they have floated over it. These girls go further and admit to smoking, drinking, and in fact having committed many other vices.

Boy Discouraged Trying to Pass Math

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

THERE was a time when Harry's arithmetic marks were a source of concern to him. He would sleep restlessly the night before an arithmetic examination and awaken worried the next day. Or failing to make a good account of himself during the usual arithmetic period in the classroom, he would return from school dissatisfied with himself, convinced he was a failure. For Harry is a serious student; in all other subjects he maintains a high average.

But of late, Harry seems to have given up trying in arithmetic altogether. Formerly he got by. Not brilliantly, it is true, but he was able to pass. Now he stands at the foot of the class, the class dunces from a standpoint of mathematical ability. To make matters worse, he no longer seems to care. He sleeps before tests are undisturbed. Apparently he has decided that he can do nothing about his being deficient in arithmetic. Why bother trying?

How did the boy come by this attitude? Let's ask his father. It seems, recognizing that the boy naturally lacked ability in arithmetic, the father thought it a pity that he should worry himself to the extent he was, if he could not help it. Meaning to lighten the boys burden, therefore, he confessed that he too could never "get" arithmetic. He told him, further, that some people were like that, and that nothing could be done about it. Others were lacking in other things; that one was a hundred per cent in everything.

The well-meaning father started off right. He helped his boy realize his deficiency. But he was only halfway through with his undertaking when he stopped. From here he should have gone on to explain that while a boy may not be a mathematical wizard, he should at least do the best he can to pass. That, of all people, he could not afford to give up trying so long as passing was required to maintain his grade.

utes. Pour over the apple pie wheels and bake until the apples are tender. Serve hot.

Spicy Fig Roll
Put 1/2 pound dried figs, chopped, into 1 1/2 cups chopped water and soak 1 hour. Add 1-3 cup sugar, 2 slices chopped lemon, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon cloves, and cook slowly until the mixture is thick. Roll out pie pastry and

Naturally I agree that the habit many women have of kissing not only their friends but their dearest enemy, is about as absurd a performance as one can imagine. But, absurd and hypocritical as it is, it is not as deplorable as the habit of promiscuous kissing between men and women, or worse still, adolescents.

Our Victorian grandparents acted on the premise that a kiss meant something. Girls in those days would not have dared to admit being kissed a dozen times by a dozen men. I doubt if they would admit they had been kissed a dozen times by one man, unless he was their "intended."

I wonder whether these experienced young women who are experimenting with high explosives have made any more startling discoveries about man nature than were discovered, with less research, by the demure Victorians? I doubt it, and I also doubt the wisdom of the modern girl's technique. Variety may be the spice of life, but it's a spice that does not make marriage palatable. When Mr. Kipling remarked that "the more you know of the man, the less you will stick to the one," he uttered a profound truth. A certain amount of curiosity is forgivable, but it didn't take unbecomingly curious to kill the proverbial cat.

Short Cuts

If vegetables are wilted, soak in cold water and you will restore them to a freshened condition before cooking. To have a fresh color and flavor, vegetables should go into the pot fresh. Wash or scrub thoroughly first, discarding all decayed parts.

Children who shun milk unless it is doctored up to disguise the milky flavor, add a strong banana milk shake. Mash one fully ripened banana and add a cup of cold milk, little by little, mixing the while. An egg beater or an electric beater may be used for mixing.

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant.

Either because of stomach disturbance, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath). No wonder others consider them a nuisance. This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halitosis fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves. Try using Listerine every two or three days. See how much more wholesome is left in your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Listerine Pharmaceutical Co., St. Louis, Mo.

30 ARE KILLED

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 2.—(UP)—The government announced today that 30 were killed and 50 wounded in the Italian bombardment of the Prince Charles of Sweden ambulance corps near Dolo last Monday. Detailed advices revised previous Red Cross reports that nine Swedes and 23 Ethiopians were killed and one wounded. The dead all were killed by bombs, struck by bomb fragments or mowed down by machine guns. Two Swedes were wounded.

ITALIANS DEFEATED

DESSAYE, Jan. 2.—(UP)—Ethiopians tonight boasted that the Italians had been forced to evacuate all of Tigre province, except behind the Aksum-Adigrat line and a narrow ribbon of communication from Adigrat to Makale. Chiefs gathered at Emperor Haile Selassie's northern headquarters were jubilant also over reports that two Italian planes had been shot down. One plane crashed and its four occupants were burned to death after machine-gunning the village of Kobia in Wolkait, a northwestern province. The other was shot down near Makale yesterday.

AFRICANS WIN

Italian scouting columns which branched eastward and westward of the Adigrat-Makale road in an attempt to "mop up" Tembien, have been driven back with severe losses, officials said.

Ethiopian mobile columns of 1,000 to 5,000 men, led by sub-chiefs of Ras Sijum and Ras Kassa now dominate most of the northern province. The Ethiopians now are striving to make Makale so "hot" for the Italians they will be compelled to fall back upon the line established in the first weeks of the war in October, from Aksum to Adigrat.

Lava Flow Will End Soon Says U. S. Official

HILO, T. H., Jan. 2.—(UP)—End of the five-weeks' lava flow from Mauna Loa volcano within a few days was predicted by Edward Winkate, superintendent of Hawaii National Park. Winkate indicated his prediction was based on the fact the flow has been steadily lessening since it was bombed by army aviators last week.

Scientists were inclined to discount the effectiveness of the bombing experiment. Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, volcanologist, who has observed the vagaries of Hawaiian volcanoes for many years, said the diminished flow might well be an indication of a natural cessation of activity.

Bound For 80 Below Zero

WITH THESE balloons Harvard scientists made an attack on the stratosphere over Milton, Mass., a radio device sent up with them showing that the spheres ascended more than 10 miles. When the signals stopped, the balloons had reached a temperature of 80 degrees below zero. The three white and one red balloons are shown at the takeoff.

Suicide Nurse In Last Note Blames SERA For Plight

MARTINEZ, Jan. 2.—Despondent through inability to obtain employment and blaming Federal relief for her predicament, Miss Helen O'Brien, missing Oakland nurse and former U. C. student shot herself at the bottom of a lonely canyon seven miles south of here.

Her body, partially covered by earth washed down by Saturday's storm, was discovered late yesterday by a searching party headed by Sheriff John A. Miller. The nurse had shot herself through the mouth with a .25 calibre automatic.

NOTES FOUND

The search for the woman began with the discovery of an abandoned automobile containing two suicide notes. One note was addressed to Harry Hopkins, Federal relief administrator.

The second note, said "Please bury me here—in a wooden box or a sheet, or anything." The note gave her mother's name, Mrs. Emma O'Brien, of Los Angeles.

SERA SCORED

The note to Hopkins read in part: "This protest is written in the hope that the information here set forth will cause you to investigate some of the errors of the California situation and rectify them."

"Entered CWA in December, 1933 after having been school nurse at Los Gatos, worked at Highland hospital."

USUAL COMPLAINT

Then followed usual complaints of relief workers, pay not forthcoming, proper rating not given, etc.

"I was forced, in order to be permitted to go to work, to sign a statement that if the work was not given to me I should have to go on relief. In other words, I was forced to put my signature to a lie. I was resigned and bought a revolver with my last pay check. I was sick and thoroughly disheartened. Her I was doing work which I had specialized in and not 20 hours a week of it were needed by all the nursery schools of Oakland.

CONDITIONS TOLD

"I want you to know the conditions under which we work. (Not stated specifically but Oakland relief line and other facts indicate Oakland office.) The building was constructed for an automobile agency.

The floors are of cement, covered by some sort of paper-thin composition. There are large furnaces, which could adequately heat the place if they were not turned off at 9 o'clock in the morning. The medical division was on the first floor and both the front and back doors were left constantly open. It was so cold that we wore our coats over the warmest sweaters we could afford. Some bought wool socks. It was so draughty that we should have worn our car hats. There were flies, fleas and gnats. The sun struck a small strip of the office for about an hour and a quarter in the morning. Scattered throughout the office there were eight telephones and five typewriters in constant use.

"My checks were held up so long it was necessary for me to borrow another $50 from a friend. After I had been in Orange county for less than a month I was ordered by the director of the project to go to San Francisco to assist her. This was another 475-mile trip, and again at my own expense.

"The project was discontinued less than four months after it began. Most of the nurses who had been employed on it were much worse off financially than before they went on."

"Then ensued months of job hunting for me. I lived at a hotel where I had credit. I was determined to never again work on a federal project, but in July I applied for a position as a visitor in the Oakland SERA. I was never granted an interview by the county director of social service for the SERA. She was always 'too busy' or 'not employing any more visitors' or her secretary would write me giving me an appointment in the near future.

"Filled in at jobs in candy factory, toy department, taught child classes, school nurse in Oakland's Nursery school."

"In this work (nursery) I became really too ill to work as the result of constant contact with respiratory infections and anxiety over my economic situation. When my time was cut from 20 to 12 hours a week I was forced to write out here before I could get any more work."

"Our nerves were ragged. One youngster cried almost one solid morning; another was diagnosed by a psychiatrist as being on the verge of a severe mental breakdown. I am told that one worker in that office died, last winter, because of severe chronic sinus infections."

"Within the past three weeks the medical division has been moved to the other side of the building to quarters that are even worse than those I have just described to you. Won't you do something about this situation, Mr. Hopkins? It won't do cut from 20 to 12 hours a week I

he sent to help defray expenses of the 1936 presidential campaign" so he literature informs us.

What is the real reason a diploma being given in every part of the nation where few or many Democrats can be gotten together—not particularly in honor of the great Jackson—but to raise a campaign fund? I have no quarrel with the purpose as it is laudable. But the money must be secured from some source for campaigns. They do not run themselves on wind, even though many entertain that erroneous idea. No one knows the truth of that statement better than Jim Farley, who is the originator of the affair and who has sounded the battle call to the hosts of democracy.

EMBARRASSING DEBT

The National Democratic Committee is still in the hole from the last campaign. The major part of the debt being owed to John J. Raskob, now a prominent member with Al Smith of the Liberty League and an outstanding and outspoken foe of the New Deal. The debt is naturally a source of embarrassment under the circumstances and party leaders desire to wipe it out as soon as possible. We would feel the same under similar conditions.

With that cut of the way, the path of the Bourbons should be comparatively smooth sailing, financially speaking. There is the tidy little sum of over two billion dollars left from the $4,800,000,000 relief fund and the two billion plus will be spent this year under Democratic supervision. Of course I would not accuse my Democratic friends of doing politics with it, but it is indeed a fortunate circumstance for them that the expenditure of the sum chances to fall in a campaign year. Personally I wish it was the Republican party that had the disposition of such an amount during 1936 and I would feel much more sanguine as to November election results.

BIG-HEARTED

In the meantime the lady who sent me the publicity should have no reason to complain, for I feel that I have been very generous in that respect—in fact have outdone myself for a political foe.

Sheriff Raids Two Resorts On New Year's Day

Two men were arrested and another was cited to appear in justice court in San Pablo when Sheriff John A. Miller's deputies raided two establishments early New Year's day.

At the Town Club at San Pablo avenue and San Pablo creek, deputies arrested Cecil Brown, 1193 Sixty-third, Oakland, and allegedly seized a crap table, a blackjack layout and two slot machines. Elmer Crawford, of Antioch, alleged owner of the place, was cited to appear before Justice Laff Grover this morning.

A large crowd of merry-makers at the club was not molested. At the 90 Club in Richmond, next, Stanley Parsons was cited to appear before Justice of the Peace A. H. MacKinnon on charges of operating a gambling game.

Raising Death Bus

EVIDENCES OF fearful battles for life were shown when this bus, in which 14 persons met death in the icy waters of the Arpmatxox River at Hopewell, Va., was raised, as shown above. The bus was enroute from Richmond to Raleigh, N. C., when it plunged through an open drawbridge. Eleven of the dead, whose bodies were recovered, were women.

HEAVY RAINS, SNOW FALLING ALONG COAST

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 2.—(UP)—The New Year's storm that drove a vessel ashore and damaged a jetty and dock along the Oregon coast, while setting rainfall and snowfall records for the winter inland, raged tonight.

Colder weather and additional showers and snow were forecast.

The 60-foot San Francisco-bound vessel E. L. Smith, driven on the sand near Bandon, Ore., Wednesday, was battered by huge waves and apparently doomed. Her cargo of cheese and lath was destroyed. The Coast Guard rescued the crew.

Wind-lashed waves carried away 200 feet of the new Columbia river south jetty. Superstructure crumbled like matchwood and some of the boulders, weighing more than 15 tons, were rolled into the sea. Ten bents of track and trestle at the outer end were lost.

A development company at Port Orford said it would rebuild the damaged section of a 350-foot pier there, but not until winter storms end. Waves undermined the dock and 50-foot fell.

Deep snow closed roads leading to Crater Lake National Park. Workmen attempted to repair a snowplow. Seventy-two inches of snow lay near the rim of the crater.

Fourteen inches of new snow lay on the Dalles-California highway at Sun Mountain and traffic was delayed. The snow and rain were welcomed by Eastern Oregon ranchers.

After a year of sub-normal rainfall, 1935 started with the opposite extreme. In 24 hours ending today Bend had 1.44 inches of rain, Marshfield, 1.28, Medford 1.22, Portland 1.21, Salem 1.18, Albany 1.10, The Dalles 1.06, Vancouver, Wash., 1.06, Walla Walla 1.02.

Wesley church tonight, Friday, the Men's Club meeting has been postponed until next Friday. A notable speaker has been secured for this meeting, announcement of which will be made later. The officers of the club have decided to hold "Ladies' Night" on this occasion.
